OF DEATHS, that annually occur, are caused by Preventable Diseases, and the greater portion of those complaints would, if Radway's Ready Relief or Pills, (as the case may require,) were administered when pain or uneasiness or slight sickness is experienced, be exterminated from the system in a few hours. PAIN, no matter from what cause, is almost instantly cured by the Ready Relief. In cases of Cholera, Diarrhoea, Cramps, Spasms, Bilious Cholera, in fact all Pains, Aches and Infirmities either in the Stomach, Bowels, Bladder, Kidneys, or the Joints, Muscles, Legs, Arms, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Fever and Ague, Headache, Toothache, &c., will in a FEW MINUTES yield to the soothing influence of the Ready Relief.

How the Ready Relief Acts!
 In a few minutes the patient will feel a slight stinging irritation, and the skin becomes reddened; if there is much distress in the stomach, the Relief will assist nature in removing the offending matter—a general warmth is felt throughout the entire body, and its diffusive stimulating properties rapidly courses through every vein and tissue of the system, arousing the sluggish and partially paralyzed glands and organs to renewed and healthy action, perspiration follows, and the surface of the body feels increased heat. The sickness at stomach, colds, chills, head-ache, oppressed breathing, the soreness of the throat, and all pains, either internally or externally, rapidly subside, and the patient falls into a tranquil sleep, awakes refreshed, invigorated, cured.
 It will be found that in using the Relief externally, either on the spine or across the kidneys, or over the stomach and bowels, that for several days after a pleasing warmth will be felt, showing the length of time it continues its influence over the diseased parts.
 Price of R. R. R. RELIEF, 50 cents per bottle. Sold by Druggists and Country Merchants, Grocers, &c.

RADWAY & CO.,
 87 Maiden Lane, New York.
TYPHOID FEVER.
 This disease is not only cured by Dr. Radway's Relief and Pills, but prevented. If exposed to it, put one teaspoonful of Relief in a tumbler of water. Drink this before going out in the morning, and several times during the day. Take one of Radway's Pills one hour before dinner, and one on going to bed.
 If seized with Fever, take 4 to 6 of the Pills every six hours, until copious discharges from the bowels take place; also drink the Relief diluted with water, and bathe the entire surface of the body with Relief. Soon a powerful perspiration will take place, and you will feel a pleasant heat throughout the system. Keep on taking Relief repeatedly, every four hours, also the Pills. A cure will be sure to follow.
 The relief is strengthening, stimulating, soothing, and quieting; it is sure to break up the Fever and to neutralize the poison. Let this treatment be followed, and thousands will be saved.
 The same treatment in Fever and Ague, Yellow Fever, Ship Fever, Bilious Fever, will effect a cure in 24 hours.
 When the patient feels the Relief irritating or heating the skin, a cure is possible. In all cases where pain is felt the Relief should be used.
 Relief 50 cts.; Pills 25 cts. Sold by all Druggists.

Twenty Years in Chicago.

In 1848 there was no railway leading to or from Chicago. The whole State had but fifty-five miles of railroad, extending from Mendota on the Illinois River, to Springfield. The Illinois and Michigan Canal had just been opened and gave the first real and great impetus to the trade and prosperity of the city. Five days was then quick time, in the summer, between New York and Chicago. The route was by steamer to Albany, thence by rail to Buffalo, thence by steamer to Detroit, thence by the Michigan Central Railway to Kalamazoo, thence by stage to St. Joseph, and thence by steamer to Chicago.
 A suggestion that within twenty years one would go to New York in a palace sleeping-car, without change, in thirty-six hours, would have been regarded as a pure sign of insanity. Sixteen miles of the Galena Railway were opened to Cottage Hill in 1848, and the opening of the road to Elgin on the 22d of January, 1850, was a grand affair. The Michigan Southern was the first road to reach the city from the East in February, 1852, and the Michigan Central was opened some three or four months later.

Citizens can now clearly understand the business and social relations of Chicago between 1848 and 1852. From March until the first of May, the mud virtually shut the city off from the country, and placed an effectual embargo on business. Sometimes we did not have a mail from the East in a week or ten days—between the time when the Eastern stages were forced to stop and the boats commenced their trips across the lake to St.
 Joseph or New Buffalo. The arrival of the first steamer was an occasion of great rejoicing, and well it might be, for it again brought us into communication with the outside world, toward the rising sun.
 Frink & Walker's stages, starting from an old shanty where the Merchant's Loan and Trust Company now is, kept up communication with the West when the mud did not effectually stop them—a thing which they seldom permitted, for the mails must be kept constantly moving, when that was within the reach of human energy. Of course we had no telegraph. Lake and perhaps a few other streets, were supplied with water pumped into a small reservoir at the foot of Lake street, by an engine which at that time added the more onerous task of running Mayor Woodward's four mill. The water was distributed by logs, through which a three or four inch hole had been bored. A large majority of the citizens were supplied with water, purchased from water-carriers, at regular intervals perambulated the streets.
 Let those who wonder at our tunnel two miles under the lake and our splendid water-works remember that all this has been accomplished within the last fifteen years.
 We had no sewerage system; a drain was sometimes dug from the house or sink to a hughul, and the contents were emptied out out, set in the ground, under the sidewalk or in the garden, and the refuse water was expected to seep away through the sand at the bottom of it. There was not a paved street in the city. Even after 1850 we have seen an empty dry lake street in the mud in every block along Lake street, and let those who wonder at our splendid water-works remember that all this has been accomplished within the last fifteen years.

After remaining an hour and a half in the dread cold, after hundreds gazed down upon the living corpse—a tinkle of a bell was heard, the crowd was pushed back, policemen's batons made ample room, and space enough was cleared for old Rhineland to emerge from his grave. He came out a conqueror or defier of death for the time being, shuffled off the hatch-way which sustained the cross and the wreath of evergreens which were placed on it and made him look like a living man.
 When the self-dismembered came once again to the surface, he was greeted with the wildest enthusiasm. A song was chanted in the tones of Fatherland, in which hundreds joined in the chorus. Impulsive friends hugged and kissed the inventor of this patent coffin, as no man was ever hugged and kissed since the days of Queen Elizabeth. The crowd nearly asphyxiated Rhineland to death. Wine and lager flowed in such profusion after the dismemberment that the gardens of the brewery would have been fairly deluged if there had not been a supply of vessels thirsty and open to receive it.

The patent coffin is certainly an improvement in the undertaking business, because cases of suspended animation, if persons recovered, they could be rescued.
 By keeping a continual watch for some time, any movement of the body could be seen through the glass, or if a string were attached to a bell, any motion would give a signal, when a person could descend and rescue the occupant of the grave.—N. Y.

ATMOSPHERIC PHENOMENA IN CALIFORNIA.
 "The weather has lately 'struck a new streak,' and that irrepressible sinner, 'the oldest inhabitant,' avowed himself complet-ly nonplussed, never having seen anything like it before. The air is warm and still, only the faintest breeze is heard, and the northwest being perceptible at long intervals, and the light of the sun is complet-ly obscured by some substance in the atmosphere which appears to be a compound of smoke, dry fog and Scotch snuff. The sun was only visible for a short time yesterday through the dense vapor, and then it resembled more the polished copper lid of a stew-pan than the jolly old Sol of the yellow face, as we are wont to look at it. It was indeed a dark day for San Francisco. The vapor in the air, whatever it may be, smells and effects the eyes and nostrils like coal tar smoke. Everybody had the headache, yet nobody was out late the night before, so far as we are able to learn. Where the tawny-hued vapor comes from we are unable to tell. All sorts of conjectures are hazarded by the public.
 One man suggests volcanic eruptions in the Hawaiian Islands; another fire on the hills back of Sanleito; another thinks it comes from Oregon, where the woods at last accounts were all on fire. The chickens evidently thought it a wonderfully long morning, for they kept on crowing all the afternoon, apparently under the impression that day had just break and that the world was new. We don't know yet to make of it, and would like to hear from outsiders on the subject.

It was reported that the woods on White's Ranch, Marin County, and on the seaward slope of Mount Tamalpais were all in a blaze, and this report was better authenticated than most of the others; but it is difficult to believe that so much smoke could come from that source. Our telegraphic dispatches from all parts of the State speak of the smoke, and it evidently covered a district some hundreds of miles in length. Towards evening, public opinion was tolerably evenly divided between the Oregon woods fire and the Mauna Loa eruption theories. When evening came and double darkness settled down on the city, the smoke appeared to increase in volume, pervading the entire atmosphere, out-doors and in-doors alike.
 The latest despatches received last evening leave little doubt that the smoke came from the burning woods, and from at least as far away as Oregon.—Alta, Sept. 17.

A Man Buried Alive.

We have often heard of persons buried alive, having been rescued from the grave after long intervals. But these stories were received with considerable doubt, and looked upon as more marvelous than the incarceration of Jonah in the belly of the whale. Yet this thing of burying alive actually occurred recently near Newark, New Jersey.

The person thus laid so prematurely under the sod was a German, named Franz Wester. The said affair created a great sensation among the Teutonic population of Newark and the surrounding neighborhood. Men, women and children flocked in hundreds to the scene, and a detail of police was sent to the grounds to keep order and prevent any disturbance over the grave of the man buried alive. The crowd hurriedly and loudly gave expression to their feelings in broken English and pure German, and in a jostling, crushing, uproarous crowd sought a glimpse of the grave which held its living, breathing occupant.

Those that compassed his premature interment had the plot so admirably arranged that the coffin and burial did not occupy more than twenty minutes. The grave was dug deep in the rear of Boen's Brewery, within scent of good lager beer, and the last nail was ready to be driven into that little piece of furniture which was about to receive the poor exile from Rhineland. Going into the garden at the rear of the brewery, at about twenty minutes to three o'clock, he was seized by six men who lay in wait for him, thrust into an open coffin, which was immediately lowered to the bottom of the grave and the earth hurriedly thrown in, and the last home of poor Franz made as close, comfortable and cozy as any poor creature could expect—be it from Rhineland or Ireland, or our own Westerland. This act was done in the full blaze of day and in presence of the red-hot sun, who was no respecter of persons on that occasion, either in or out of the flesh.

The reality of the affair is this, Franz Wester, of Newark, has invented a form of coffin from which a person, buried during suspended animation, might effect his escape in the event of a revival, even after the coffin had been placed in the ground. The coffin is constructed in the ordinary way, having a square box or shaft inserted in one end in a perpendicular position. This shaft rises above the level of the grave about two and a half feet, and is covered with a square hatch, surrounded by a cross. It has three augur holes in each side to admit air for breathing purposes, and a pane of glass is inserted in the top, through which the occupant of the coffin can be seen.

At three o'clock the work of interment commenced. Wester was placed in the coffin, which was duly lowered into a deep grave and the earth filled over it. By looking through the glass his head and shoulders could be seen, and the coffin was warmer than on ordinary corpses. He took care to bring down with him to the grave something to moisten the clay, to refresh the inner man, and make his short abode in the tomb as comfortable as even a temporary resident in that long home possibly can be.

 back, policemen's batons made ample room,
 and space enough was cleared for old
 for the time being, shuffled off the hatch-
 on it and made him look like a living man.
